INTERNATIONAL EX-LIBRIS COMPETITION 2021 TRAKAI 700. IN SEARCH OF IDENTITY: TRAKAI RESIDENT'S DNA

Trakai will celebrate its 700th anniversary in 2021, in accordance with Motiejus Strijkovskis' statement in his work "Kronika Polska, Litewska, Żmódzka y wszystkiej Rusi". To commemorate this anniversary, the Trakai History Museum is organizing an international ex-libris competition "Trakai 700. In Search of Identity: Trakai Resident's DNA".

The competition aims to promote the bookplate and the city of Trakai. Its goal is to depict the identity of Trakai through a historical prism and to search for the face of Trakai as a multicultural city in the historical context where all ethnic groups and communities – Jews, Karaites, Tatars, Polish and Russians – are of equal importance. An exhibition of the winners of the competition will be organized and a catalog of the exhibition will be published. The international ex-libris competition is being held for the fifth time.

Alvyga Zmejevskienė, director of the Trakai History Museum, is inviting artists and creators of small graphics from around the world to create ex-libris for the Trakai architectural complex, personalities associated with this area, and to search for identity - the DNA of the Trakai resident.

Originally, the name of Trakai most probably did not belong to the current city, but Old Trakai - an area located 4 km southeast of Trakai. The most spread hypothesis about the establishment of the Old Trakai is based on an excerpt from the Lithuanian Chronicle. It states that Old Trakai was founded by Grand Duke Gediminas himself, who once left Kernavė to hunt on the opposite bank of the Neris river. In the woods five miles away, the duke has found a beautiful mountain surrounded by oak groves and plains. He liked the place so dearly that he built a castle and founded the city of Trakai in the surroundings of Old Trakai and moved the capital from Kernavė. Motiejus Strijkovskis, the author of Lithuanian history, stated in his work "Kronika Polska, Litewska, Żmódzka y wszystkiej Rusi" that it happened in 1321.

As with many historical dates, this one is also not so simple. Opinions differ. The description of the history of Trakai Old Town in the Register of Cultural Values indicates that Old Trakai was the capital of the Lithuanian state between 1316 and 1323 (according to other sources, in 1321 and 1322).
